

Conclusion

- Ike Ed staff welcomes students back together and concludes the topics of Constitution Day, the Executive Branch, and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Materials Needed:

- projector, screen, and speakers
 - laptop with video loaded ready to go, wi-fi
1. Show the video, Constitution Day: The Presidency, found at <<http://constitutioncenter.org/learn/hall-pass/constitution-day-2012-the-presidency>>. (This video is 22 minutes if shown entirely. The intro with George Stephanopoulos can be skipped if needed for time, as can the “to learn more” section at the end. Start: 2:36, End: 19:58)
 2. Discuss with students after the video:
 - ✓ Why is the Constitution so important? (It is the supreme law of the United States. It is the framework for the organization of the U.S. government and for the relationship of the federal government with the states, and with all its citizens.)
 - ✓ What does it have to do with the presidency? (Article II outlines the powers and duties of the Executive Branch, which is headed by the president.)
 - ✓ Who is our favorite president here in Kansas? (Ike!)
 3. Thanks for coming to the Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home! We are so glad you came here to celebrate the privileges and responsibilities of U.S. citizenship, as well as to commemorate the creation and signing of the Constitution.
